WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 .- Details of an claborate plan for advertising western Canada as a desirable place for homeseekers were laid before the Senate Lobby Committee to-day by William J. White, special advertising agent for the Canadian Government. Mr. White said that he had expended between $60,000 and $70,000 annually for advertising Canadian lands among the farmers of the United States, with the object of inducing emigration

More than 800,000 Americans have gone to Canada in the last ten years, he said, as the result of the advertising camas the result of the advertising cam-paign. Last year about 140,000 crossed the border. Asked how many had come back from Canada, he said frankly that he did not know, as his interest ended when he landed them on the other side of the Canadian border.

Senator Cummins seemed very much concerned because of the migration from lowa to Canada and asked Mr. White specially concerning to

"We have done a great deal of advertising in lowa with good results," said tising in lowa with good results," said the Canadian publicity agent. "but we have not lassoed anybody and I believe that on the whole those who have gone to Canada from lowa have been benefited. They sold their farms in lowa at a much higher price per acre than they could obtain just as good lands for in Canada, and in that way have enlarged their holdings and I have heard little or no complaint from them. We try to aid would-be emigrants by pointing out the best agriculoural lands and assisting them to locate."

It is said that the cost of Canada's advertising campaign in the United States and Europe aggregates nearly three-quarters of a million dollars a year.

The present policy was inaugurated by the Hon. Frank Oliver, who was Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Minister of the Interior. The Canadian railways join with the Government in its advertising and general publicity work, and of course are heavy gainers thereby.

The Assistant Superintendent of Immigration, E. Blake Robertson, said to The Sun correspondent:

"Year by year in their attempt to 'knock' Canada those interested as above described have published long accounts of the immense number of Canadians who, disgusted with Canadian conditions, have moved to the republic. The proof of the falsehood of these assertions is made.

Adolf Philipp last evening at his theatre in Fifty-seventh street gave the first production here of the military melodrama "Zabern," founded upon the incidents that led up to the recent court-martial of German officers in Alsace.

The play is credited to Fred Schumacher, the editor of a paper at Zabern, who, as might be supposed, had rather strong sympathies with his countrymen and who was bitterly opposed to military domination by the Germans. That he has that he has produced might be expected. To those understanding the political significance of the piece it would be readily seen that it might meet with more favor parties of Germany. But as a purely theatrical production it possesses the quality of an interesting story rather simply friends, and the assertion was that it will be paid over as soon as it can legally be done.

The offer was read at a general meeting of the depositors in the Thirteenth street loft yesterday afternoon. While there was some gratification expressed formal action placed the matter in the hands of John P. Munch, chairman, and the ten other committeemen who will collaborate with the Sunday committee.

It was reported later that this comittee it would be able to accomplish for you."

The Pollock's committee would go and the Senator received a letter from Mr. Untermyer saying his special knowledge undoubtedly used as characters in the piece. Von Recuter, the Colonel of the Ninety-ninth Regiment, is shown as a stern tactician, a man who knows nothing but military duties and who was throughout stern and uncompromising. Von Forstner is a bumptious young Lieutenant, aggressive, heartless and moved by a determination to humble the people of Zabern, against whom he bears a grudge for fancied wrongs.

To these two representatives of Germany are intrusted the difficult roles of forcing the Zabern recruits to a wholesome respect for military discipline. They are pitted against Franz Hillmann, the proprietor of an inn, who had fought against the Germans in the Franco-Prus-sian war and who has been rewarded for bravery with the cross of the Legion of Honor; his grandson Franz, a recruit in the Ninety-ninth Regiment, and an orphan girl Baerhle, a sweetheart of Franz.

The grandson is arrested for register-ing a complaint against Lieut. v. Forstner's treatment. As he is being marched off to prison he meets his grandfather, who, demanding an explanation, is struck Washington, Jan. 28.—The plan for government control of radium bearing tion of a Government reduction plant was disclosed at a night session of the House Committee on Mines and Mining. will permit the Federal Government to buy radium from other sources than the United States and to sell the byproducts of radium production in the Government plant and to dispose of the radium extracted in Government plants in such manner as will best subserve the public welfare. The question of an appropriation for the first Government plant is held in abeyance.

The suggestion was made to-day that $200,000 for a plant or plants in the Rocky Mountain States would be needed and $400,000 more for carrying out the loss of them—and at that time the indictments will be made public. The men arrested to-day are John B. Scarlett, a director of the institution and a contractor: Harry W. Foster, another director, and Charles N. Mindnich, formerly a bookkeeper for the trust company. They were taken before Thomas of the charge be made known to them.

County Prosecutor Louis Hood replied: The charges are contained in indictments will be made public. Rocky Mountain States would be needed and $400.000 more for carrying out the purposes of the act.

Chairman Foster of the Committee on Mines and Mining is delighted with the outcome of the investigation. He believes that the compromise bill will satisfy Secretary Lane.
